Introduction

Welcome to the most recent edition of the Hull Safeguarding Children Partnership newsletter which contains a wealth of information demonstrating the excellent work which is taking place across Hull to support children and young people. Articles include information relating to the Hull SEND local offer, private fostering, modern slavery and training and resources in relation to domestic abuse.

As we are approaching the October half-term holiday there are lots of fantastic free activities which are happening in Hull for all ages. These include play day events, museum activities, swimming and golf!

It was an absolute privilege to recently attend the Hull Young People's Parliament. The young people and children who took part articulated their thoughts so well to facilitate discussions around issues that mattered the most to them. Their views and ideas are instrumental in continually developing and influencing services for children and young people across Hull. Topics discussed included bullying and poverty.

We are all acutely aware of the current cost of living crisis and the significant impact that this is having on families across Hull. Hull City Council have launched a package of measures, called 'Hull Together', to ensure people understand how to ask for help and advice. Webinars are also being delivered through Early Help for practitioners across Hull regarding support available.

I recently had the opportunity to attend an informative conference organised by Hull Thrive. This was a really valuable opportunity to network with colleagues to discuss how services can be developed and to hear about the work which is already taking place across Hull to support children and young people with their mental health and emotional wellbeing. It was also great to attend the recent Hull City Council celebration event recognising the positive improvements which have been made in Hull to support and safeguard children.

The Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel have recently issued a number of updates to guidance and published papers setting out key findings from recent reviews. These include additional guidance around the key responsibilities of statutory partners involved in local child safeguarding practice reviews and the criteria and duty to notify serious incidents to the Panel. Briefing papers have also been published in relation to bruising in non-mobile infants and multi-agency safeguarding in respect of domestic abuse. These are part of an ongoing series of publications to share key themes identified through the work of the Panel. Documents and additional information are detailed within this newsletter.

Any feedback in relation to newsletters is always welcome and any ideas you may have for topics to include in future newsletters are always appreciated! If you would like to submit an article for a future edition, please email hscp@hullcc.gov.uk.

Information is also regularly shared through the HSCP twitter account - <https://twitter.com/LSCPHull>

National Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel Updates

On 3 October 2022 the Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel's regional roundtable for Yorkshire and Humber was held. This was convened by the Yorkshire and Humber regional representative on the Panel, Annie Hudson. The aim was for safeguarding partners and the Panel to discuss issues of mutual interest and for regional partners to hear about the Panel's work programme. The Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel highlighted a number of recent publications which are detailed below. Please click on the blue links below to download the full documents.

Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel Guidance for safeguarding partners (September 2022) - the guidance includes updated information in relation to the responsibilities of statutory partners, the role of the Panel and content around the duty to notify serious incidents to the Panel. This is particularly relevant to those involved in local child safeguarding practice reviews (LCSPRs) including reviewers, review panel members, and those responsible for decision-making around reviews.

Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel Guidance for safeguarding partners

The management of bruising in non-mobile infants briefing paper (September 2022) – the publication explores current guidance to support safeguarding partners with the management of bruising in non-mobile infants based on published evidence and due to variations in practice having been noted nationally.

The management of bruising in non-mobile infants briefing paper

Multi-agency safeguarding and domestic abuse paper (September 2022) – the briefing paper is based on the analysis of over 70 child safeguarding practice and rapid reviews where domestic abuse featured. Areas highlighted within the paper include the importance of a multi-agency response to domestic abuse, the need for increased understanding as to how domestic abuse impacts on children and the need for all practitioners to have a thorough understanding of the impact that domestic abuse has on the individual child and their day to day experiences. Ensuring that all forms of abuse are considered by agencies involved in safeguarding children as an overemphasis on physical violence was noted as sometimes being the primary indicator of domestic abuse.

Multi-agency safeguarding and domestic abuse paper

National review into the murders of Arthur Labinjo-Hughes and Star Hobson (May 2022) – following the publication of this review in May 2022 the Government has committed to forming a cross-Ministerial board on child protection and will set out an implementation strategy by the end of the year. During the round table event the Panel emphasised the need for all safeguarding partners to ensure that multi-agency strategy discussions are always being held whenever it is suspected a child may be at risk of suffering significant harm and that referrals are not deemed to be malicious without a thorough multi-agency assessment by all safeguarding partners.

Multi-agency safeguarding and domestic abuse paper

In Autumn 2022 a national review into safeguarding children with disabilities and complex health needs is also due to be published with further information being shared in Spring 2023 in relation to the wider safeguarding system and national recommendations.

Cost of living support package launches

Hull City Council have launched a package of measures, called 'Hull Together', to ensure people understand how to ask for help and advice. Information including the advice hub e-mail, phone number and web address, are being advertised on posters, leaflets, online, and in public spaces, including translations in languages commonly spoken locally.

Hull city Council are working with partners in the Hull Cost of Living Network, including the Citizen's Advice Bureau (CAB) and voluntary sector support group 'Forum', to put in place emergency support to alleviate financial pressures. In terms of the wider guidance, advice and signposting to other agencies who can help, we hope this is useful for everyone, wherever they live.

Measures include:

- A one-off £100 payment to under-25s who are care leavers or receiving housing benefit or council tax support;

- £15 per week food vouchers during school holidays for people who usually receive free school meals (FSM);
- A £25,000 fund to help create 'warm spaces' – local businesses will be able to apply for funds to create spaces where people can stay warm, charge up their phones and have hot drinks;
- A boost to a funding pot for those on low incomes to access a new boiler or improved insulation;
- A £25,000 boost to local food banks, to help improve local food networks;
- Additional funding for the 'Warm Homes' project; and,
- And other extra measures around housing, finance, health, debt and fuel and energy.

Please look out for this campaign and if you, or any residents you are helping, need support more details can be found on hull.gov.uk/costofliving, call 01482 300 303 or email costofliving@hullcc.gov.uk

Private Fostering Week

HSCP and Children's Services are continuing to raise awareness about Private Fostering so that any children and young people living under these arrangements are identified and the local authority are made aware, in line with statutory duties.

Nicola Lynn (Head of Service and designated lead for PF) recently attended the Secondary Schools Heads Meeting to share information in relation to private fostering. This was well received and a positive step to increasing identification of these children.

Privately fostered children can be very vulnerable and require social work oversight to ensure they are safe and supported. It is important to strengthen everyone's understanding of private fostering. There is a short e-learning programme available via the HSCP. We would like to encourage as many staff/partners/agencies to complete this before Christmas 2022 to help demonstrate a real commitment to this cohort of children and young people. Private Fostering week is planned for 5th of December which will be a great opportunity to share information and raise awareness in relation to private fostering.

To book onto the e-learning please complete the application form and email LearningandDevelopment@hullcc.gov.uk

Signs of Safety Two-Day Training

You may now be aware that Hull is in the process of implementing Signs of Safety as our practice approach across the children's partnership.

Signs of Safety is recognised as a best practice approach to child protection, which is equally applicable to early help, children looked after and children with disabilities. It has been adopted in more than 15 countries and Hull is now joining a growing community of practitioners striving to achieve the very best outcomes for children and young people.

As a practitioner in a key partner organisation, you may have recently attended a partner briefing held by Hull Children and Family Services to hear more about the model and how partner involvement will be critical to this work. The framework will help us form a common approach for families, a consistent way of working, use the same language and work towards shared goals.

We are now delivering Signs of Safety Two Day Training aimed at workers and their managers that either work directly with children, young people and their families or come across families regularly in their routine work .

This is a fantastic opportunity for us all and your involvement will be critical to this work to help us form a common approach for families, a consistent way of working, use the same language and work towards shared goals.

As part of the learning attendees will receive a Signs of Safety workbook and Learning Journal.

The two-day training will be delivered virtually Via Zoom the dates available are –

- Tuesday 6 and Wednesday 7 December
- Thursday 12 and Friday 13 January 2023
- Thursday 16 and Friday 17 March 2023

Local Authority Designated Officer

On an interim basis, with effect from Monday 3rd October 2022, the Local Authority Designated Officer role will be covered by Claire Winters (full-time) and Dan Horne (3 days per week). Claire is covering the role for Jacquie Edhouse on a temporary basis, until Jacquie resumes the role. Dan's additional 3-days per week is planned additional capacity for the role to ensure that we are able to continue to provide a high quality allegations management service across the partnership.

As most of you know, both Claire and Dan have previously held the LADO role so I'm really confident that between them, once they have got back up to speed, they will provide you with the help, support and advice you need in managing allegations, until Jacquie returns to role shortly.

Ofsted full inspection of Hull Children's Services expected soon

"Following our fantastic Ofsted monitoring visit in July (letter published in August) and our Department of Education commissioner Paul Moffatt officially stepping back we have now been told that we are ready for a full inspection."

"We don't yet know when this will be but we are expecting it to be before the end of the calendar year but could come as early as October. The inspection will see a team of six inspectors onsite. The team will comprise of a lead inspector, three social care inspectors, a school inspector and a quality assurance manager. There may also be one inspector shadowing the team. The inspection will last for two weeks and we will have one week notice. They will look at every area of the directorate and speak to partners and service users. Following the inspection we will get an official Ofsted grading. "

Pauline Turner, director of children's services, said: "While any inspection is daunting I totally agree that we are ready and I know that we can show Ofsted how far we have come and how much we have improved. I am confident that we can all work together to ensure we show them the difference we are making for children, young people and families in Hull."

How to raise concerns about modern slavery

Everyone has the right to live a life free from slavery but sadly children and adults across the world, including in our city, are trapped in slavery. According to AntiSlavery.org around 49.6 million people worldwide are trapped in slavery. Modern slavery is a serious crime and a violation of fundamental human rights.

There is no single sign that someone is a victim and it can take many forms ranging from, but not exclusive, to:

- sexual exploitation
- forced begging
- drug cultivation
- organised crime
- labour exploitation

Here are three things you can do to help potential victims of slavery:

1. Learn - complete the Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking eLearning course on OLM – your manager should give you time to complete this
2. Discover - more about Modern Slavery via our council's website: gov.uk/support-adults/children-and-families/modern-slavery
3. Report - concerns about modern slavery to Humberside Police using this link: <https://www.reportingcrime.uk/HPPartnershipIntelligence/>

If there are immediate safety concerns call Humberside Police on 999.

National Staying Safe With Fireworks Guidance

Using fireworks at home?

2021

If you decide to use fireworks at home, here's how everyone can stay safe.

Only buy from licensed sellers

Check before you buy. Make sure you buy fireworks from a licensed retailer, both in-store and online. Do not buy fireworks from unknown retailers on social media sites. It's illegal for anyone under 18 to buy or carry fireworks.

Store fireworks safely

Store fireworks in their original packaging. Lock them away from children and animals. Keep fireworks dry and away from sources of heat or ignition.

Check your timings

Did you know that you can't let fireworks off between 11pm and 7am? The only exceptions are Fireworks Night, when the cut-off is midnight, and Diwali, New Year's Eve and Chinese New Year, when it's 1am. Timings may be different in Scotland. Search 'fireworks' on gov.scot for more advice.

Be considerate

People and animals may be affected by fireworks. Let your neighbours know in advance if you're planning on using any fireworks. Be mindful of where you site fireworks to minimise disruption.

Look after pets

Cats and dogs should stay inside. Give small animals who live outside lots of extra bedding and nesting material to burrow in.

Read all the instructions

The box of fireworks will tell you important things like how far away people need to stand back once the firework is lit. If you don't understand the instructions and warnings, don't use the firework.

Dispose of fireworks safely

Ensure that fireworks are out, soak them in water overnight, then put them in a rubbish bag and in the bin.

Which fireworks can I use at home?

Category information can be found on the label.

Category F1, F2 and F3 fireworks are on sale to the general public. Consumer fireworks will fall into either category F2 or F3 depending on how much of a safety distance is required. Check you have enough space to safely use a firework before you buy. Always follow the Firework Code www.saferfireworks.com

Go to www.gov.uk/fireworks-the-law for more advice

Safer Hull Safety Booklet

Community safety is best seen as an aspect of our quality of life in which individuals and communities are protected from, equipped to cope with, and have increased capacity to resist, crime and anti-social behaviour. Engaging communities in community safety activities is essential to the work of Safer Hull CSP.

Their latest Safety Booklet is a quick and easy guide on how to access support and services and includes tips on staying safe, reporting Crime and ASB plus includes information on how to access live information on what is going on in your area through My Community Alerts. By working together, we can make Hull a safer place for people to live, work and visit.

EHASH Numbers

The Early Help and Safeguarding Hub (EHASH) team are currently experiencing a high number of calls which are not EHASH related.

In order to help us answer calls in a timely manner, we are asking all staff and partners to please only call the EHASH line if it is in relation to a concern or worry for a child that does not have an allocated worker.

Also, where possible, please use the portal on the HCC website to make the relevant referral, if a discussion with a social worker is not required.

To access the portal please follow the link below: <https://www.hull.gov.uk/children-and-families/safeguarding-and-welfare/worried-about-child>
